Consumer Outreach

Describe consumer outreach efforts in the past 12 months: Long Lines Wireless maintains a public website displaying its full selection of handsets, including those that are HAC-compliant. Existing or prospective customers can determine whether a handset is HAC-compliant by consulting with sales personnel, reviewing the packaging and/or literature for the handset, or reviewing the company's website.

Methodology for Functionality Levels

Historically, Long Lines Wireless has defined functionality according to price to the consumer. This year, we modified our criteria to help the consumer more easily identify the phones by features associated with different levels of functionality (i.e., operating system, ability to run applications, music player functionality, AM or FM Radio, etc.).

Our functionality levels are still classified as "A", "B" or "C", but clarifying descriptions have been added as follows:

Functionality A "Smartphones" - Designates phones that have an operating system (BlackBerry, Windows Mobile, Android or other) and provide customers with access to the internet (over-the-air or thru wi-fi), the ability to run applications and process information on the device.

Functionality B "Multimedia" - designates Multimedia phones that enable customers to access the web (in a more limited fashion than smartphone), the ability to send and receive multimedia messages, play MP3 or other music files, have expanded (QWERTY) keyboard to improve messaging capabilities, etc.

Functionality C "Feature" - designates Feature phones which are typically lower in cost and functionality. Feature phones provide the essential capabilities for talk, text and limited WAP browsing, but do not support advanced applications or support wi-fi.
