About the FCC Registration Number (FRN)

An FRN, or FCC registration number, is a 10-digit number that is assigned to a business or individual registering with the FCC. This unique FRN is used to identify the registrant's business dealings with the FCC. The FCC will use the FRN to determine if all of a registrant's fees have been paid. You are encouraged to register with the Commission as soon as you expect to do business with the FCC. This way, you will be ready to access any of the electronic licensing systems without having to go through the registration process at the time you submit an application.

The Wireless Telecommunications Bureau began requiring the FRN for the Universal Licensing System and Antenna Structure Registration on December 3, 2001.

For more information, see Public Notice DA 01-2452.

Things to Remember about Filing Applications in ULS.

- When filing in ULS use the FRN associated with your license to file your applications. If there is no FRN associated with your license, you must link your license to your FRN.
- When filing renewal applications electronically, you must submit an attachment of the FCC Form 330R or 405 and any required exhibits.

Things to Remember about Filing Applications in ULS.

- The procedures for filing a manual application have not changed. However, when filing application purposes that are in ULS (i.e. New, Modification, Renewal, Certification of Construction, etc.) we only need the original application.

When filing applications still maintained in the Public Reference Room continue to submit multiple copies.

Things to Remember about Filing Applications in ULS.

- When filing an amendment on a returned application, applicants can view the returned application in ULS Application Search. We will not be sending a copy of the applications with the return letter.

Additionally, the same procedures will be followed for dismissed applications.

V. Additional Functions

Target Deployment March 1st

- MDS/ITFS Service Specific Search will be deployed.
- Reference Copies will be available for MDS/ITFS License in ULS License Search.
- The MDS/ITFS data will be added to the ULS download files.
